Project №1188
Knitwear production for export to Russia (with guarantee and insurance)

Market Demand: Since the beginning of the year, Uzbekistan has exported textile products worth $2.9 billion. Exports have grown by less than 10% or $250 million in annual terms. Textile deliveries accounted for 16.7% of total exports. Compared to January-July 2021, it increased by 21%. From the figures above, we see a significant increase in textile exports and high demand. Despite the large number of knitting factories in Uzbekistan, demand still cannot be fully covered.

Description: The author of the project is production of products for the domestic market and export to the CIS countries for 7 years. The author has production of printing and tailoring garments and experience production from canvas to finished products and export to CIS countries. The project has already raised $200,000 for expansion of production and now delivers 1 truckload of finished products to Russia per month. Advantages: the business has existed for more than 20 years and established itself at the highest level. Imprisoned export contract for a total amount of $ 16 million with monthly delivery to Russia, Bogatyr brands and "Dobrynya". To avoid the risk of non-payment by buyer, the buyer makes an advance payment upon acquisition and supply of fabric to the warehouse. Full payment produced before shipment: up to 80% during tailoring, and 20% based on the amount of finished products. Invested in marketing, contracts, presentation of sketches of clothing models, search for fabrics, accessories and the purchase of a typewriter $90,000.

About the author and team: More than 20 years of experience in this field. Prior to the moratorium on cotton, they exported products to Wal-Mart, IKEA, Germany and Russia. There is a wide range of garments for export, and a contract for a total supply of $16,000,000. For the stable implementation and overfulfillment of the state export plan, by more than $16,000,000, he was awarded state awards and medals. The team is about 200 people.
